I am pleased to offer this testimonial to support Project Excelsior and the Coalition of Hope.

In my thirty- eight years in uniform and afterward I have seen several disasters and humanitarian tragedies. Conflicts, natural disasters, refugee flows and camps will be a challenge for the world's nations and international institutions, and pose deadly threats to the men, women and children affected.

The Coalition of Hope offers a means of providing rapid humanitarian support in such situations, in place and ready, and not dependent on government approvals and appropriations.

I congratulate the Coalition on its vision and wish it success in its endeavors.
